“ When I reminisce about my Rebels over the years.. it often includes David and Andy Ross...

*They laughed their way through school..
Sometimes Ms Tennyson would move them to opposite ends of the class... in high school..
It didn't matter...
One would burp/fart/snort or snort trying to stop laughing and giggling...*

*They made faces at each other etc.
They couldn't look @one another or the laughter was uncontrollable.*

*His laughter was infectious soooo we laughed to....
She knew they had did something behind her back because they were plum red in the face.. an inch until they burst.
