“ I will always have so many beautiful memories of you and our families. Your family should be very proud of the man you were, most of all the love you had for your Lord and Savior I (Deb) will celebrate you home
Uncle James I know you are having the best time of your life now looking forward to seeing you and the rest of the family again. A personal relationship with our Lord Jesus Christ is the key to heaven. Being born again ❤️🙏

“ Uncle James had a nickname for me as long as I can remember and called me it whenever he say me. Not sure where it came from but that's ok. When I got married to my now ex husband he made the trip to Illinois to see me get married and it meant the world to me!! I'm gonna miss him and hearing my nickname being said by him. Loved my uncle James!!

“ Every time I tell my kids to buckle up in the car, I smile to myself because I'm remembering Papaw singing, “Buckle up for safety, BUCKLE UP.” It always made us kids giggle, so we were sure not to buckle up when we got in the truck.

“ When I was playing football in high school , Dad was very enthusiastic. No matter how loud the band played or people yelled, I knew exactly where Dad was cause I could hear him while playing. We used to joke about how loud he was in the huddles. I will miss him greatly

One of my favorite memories was when I was a teenager. My Dad bought me a fancy dress and invited me out to eat. We had a "date". He opened doors for me and helped me with my chair. He asked me about things I was interested in. The restaurant had linen table cloths, several cups and forks at the place setting. I was amazed! Why did he do this? He wanted to show me how a date should treat me, so that I could learn how to become a lady. If you are a Dad and you have a daughter, do this for them. Dad I love you and miss you so much! Save me a spot by the chocolate fountain!
