“ There was a temple trip to Washington in which between her and Red they had to have 5 recommends because of misplacing them. Also, at the hotel, we were issued a room that was occupied by a guy (politician?) laying on the bed with only a speedo on and the door answered by a scantily clad lady. That really livened our trip up...She had fond memories, however of an incident in the Atlanta cafeteria in which she saw the most wonderful looking lemon pie, purchased it , and on sitting down at the table remarked that she didn't even like that kind. We had ideas of what she could do with it and offered to eat it for her, but she remarked, "I saw it, I bought it, and I'm going to eat it." And so she did. She was a dear friend whom I will love forever. A wonderful person. -- John
