“ I remember the first time I met Mrs. Walden. I was just 15 years old and attending Northeast Miss. Community College graduation. i had heard so many stories about her from her son, as only a child can tell, that I was intimidated at the thought of meeting her. I was tongue-tied and she was gracious with such a warm smile. She and her husband reared two fine children and I have always admired that. She certainly was a force to be reckoned with and will be missed.
